WORDS FROM THE STAT-MAN:

(Author's Introduction and Ramblings)

I've been a physics teacher at Hinsdale Central for 29 years. I also love sports stats.

I joined the Girls Basketball program in the 1994-05 season. The girls were at mid-season of a 25-2 campaign and Coach Gross was being pressured by reporters for stats. Steve knew that I had been doing the boys stats since the 1988-89 season and asked if I could organize his numbers as well. Years later, I find myself the "elder statesman" of the program and the only one left from those days.

The Girls Basketball Book is always a work in progress. Numbers here are a combination of old banquet programs, yearbook articles, the Wall of Fame at school, and other similar sources. I spent a few weeks thumbing through game scorebooks for the 1982-83-84-85 seasons and managed to fill in a few of the details lost for years. I feel sort of like Indiana Jones trying to unearth ancient manuscripts, spending hours in the hopes of gaining a half-dozen numbers. A few of the kids in the 82-85 years got their names on our season or career leader-boards, so perhaps the time was well spent. Thanks to those who shared information and made this all possible.

One thing that has remained the same over the years is that we have some great coaches and great players. Ask any teacher and I'm sure they will describe our girls as hard working, polite, dependable, and ready to handle the pressures of life. Whether a star or a sub, girls who have survived this program have gone on to the best of schools with great success.

As always, I want to dedicate this book to the players on the team – I have enjoyed watching you play and you deserve to be somehow immortalized on paper. Even though some of you had no idea who I am, you all made me feel like a part of this and every season. I also want to thank the coaches who put up with me on a regular basis. Thanks for making this all possible. Finally, the parents who have figured out who I am and appreciate what I do for the team. It's not every day that a person with no real basketball talent gets welcomed into the family.

- Mr. Breig, "Stat-Man" and Team Historian

Basketball Stats 101

"Why do teams track statistics in the first place? The primary purpose is to separate a player from his team. We know at the end of a contest who won. What we don't know is which players were responsible for a team's success (or failure)."

- Stumbling on Wins (Berri and Schmidt; 2011)

People often ask about all those numbers we keep and what they mean, so I thought it would be worth sharing some info on this.

First of all, we operate on the assumption that the point in basketball is to score points and to stop the other team from scoring points. This leads us to the conclusion that what we do on the court can be measured in terms of points.

For example, we assume that a possession is worth roughly one point. If a person shoots 50% from the field, that person will score either 0 or 2 points, or on the average one point. From the 3-point arc, we go on the assumption that one success in three will be a good measure of success.

A rebound "equals" one point. An offensive rebound gives the team another chance to continue the possession, while a defensive rebound takes a possession away from the other team.

Similarly, a steal "gains" one point but a turnover loses one. Assists are more vague, but give credit to the person who is setting up the score as well as the person making the score.

This leads us up to some of my less traditional statistics.

- Gun is shot efficiency, or how many points a player scores per shot attempt. The goal would be to have a GUN of 1.0 or better.
- SAT is a measure of ball control, and can be found by combining Steals plus Assists, minus Turnovers. Anything positive is nice.
- PRO is production, which is Points plus SAT plus Rebounds plus Blocks. PRO will give a total contribution to a game or season or career. PRO isn't a very useful stat overall, but it does count the most traditional stats (points and rebounds) so it is familiar to fans.
- O-PRO is Offensive Production, which is found by adding points to offensive rebounds and assists, then subtracting for missed shots and turnovers.

2002 State Champions!

- D-PRO is Defensive Production and is found by adding defensive rebounds to steals and blocked shots.
- PRO2 is a revision of my older PRO stat and adds O-PRO to D-PRO. It's pretty much the old PRO but this time accounting for missed shots.
- DEVIL DEX is PRO2 scaled to represent 4 quarters of play, or essentially PRO2 per game. DEVIL DEX is a really nice overall indicator of quality of play, since it accounts for playing time.
- My latest toy is the TOTAL PLAYER VALUE (TVP), which is sort of like DEVIL DEX but adjusts for playing time. For example, Lindsey Williams had one of our greatest DEVIL DEX seasons in school history, but was a transfer and only played one year. Four years of lesser value may be worth more than a single great season.

Also, as you look at the statistics please keep them in perspective, because they don't always tell the whole story. If we are trying to run out the clock at the end of the game we may make a dozen passes, none of which ever get recorded. A possession with six passes and a turnover gets rated a -1 even though there were six good things that happened first. A player who hustles every day in practice but only logs "mop up time" in a game has still made major contributions to help others improve, yet we have no stats to reflect this.

Stats are a tool to help assess player contribution but they don't measure heart and effort and other traits that our girls are known to possess.

Enjoy them. Love them. Understand them.

Hinsdale Central Girls Basketball 2017

2002 State Champions!

Our Red Devils: HISTORY

Genesis

The West Suburban Conference was formed back in January 1924, but it wasn't until the 19972-73 school year that the IHSA and the WSC officially added girls' sports.

Hinsdale Central apparently didn't have a girls' basketball team until the 1976-77 season (or maybe 77-78, sources differ), so many other schools in the WSC appear to have had a big advantage. In the first few years the Devils were clearly overmatched by their competition. The first nine years of girls' basketball saw four head coaches: Melanie Wulff (1 yr.), Debbie Whiteford (4 yrs.), John Diehl (3 yrs.), and Mary Sue Marxkoirs (1 year).

Under coach Jeff Hill, the 1991 team begins a streak of double-digit win seasons that still exists today and has lasted 19 years. This was also the season that we won the first of 12-straight IHSA Regional Championships, a streak that eventually ended in 2002.

The Stat-Man Arrives

Steve Gross took over as coach and I took over as Statistician/Historian in 1995 as we began to accumulate complete statistics.

In his first season as head coach, Steve Gross' Devils finished with a 25-2 record (first 20+ win season in school history) and our fifth straight IHSA Sectional title. The 1997 and 1998 Devils were back-to-back IHSA Sectional Champions, hovering just a win short of going "down state." The 2001 Devils ended the regular season with a perfect 27-0 record and #1 state ranking. Once more, we were Sectional Champions but were denied in the Super Sectionals. 2001 and 2002 were our first 30+ win seasons in school history.

State Champions!

The 2002 regular season was 26-1 (making our 3-year totals 36-0 in the Conference). An 8-0 playoff run included our fourth trip ever to the Super Sectional and a trip "down state" for the first time ever, and ended with our first ever IHSA State Championship!

This team was special enough that a photo was mounted on the wall in the gym among all of the State Championship banners.

Post-Championship Years:

Since then, our Devils have continued in their excellence, with 20+ win seasons in 2005 and again in 2007, 2008, and 2009. Steve Gross coached Hinsdale to his 300th career win during the 2007 season. Both the 2008 and 2009 years gave us 30+ win seasons.

2009 was unusual in that Gross left mid-season and was replaced by interim coaches Morgan Kasperek and Kelly Maley. 2010 brought a new coach, former HC standout Lindsey Montgomery, but maintained our tradition of excellence as we won 20+ games for the fourth year straight, and 5 in the past 6 seasons. One of my big season memories was our win over Fenwick, finished by a Toni Kokenis steal-and-layup with seconds to play.

"THE SHOT"

Toni Kokenis scores her 1567th career point with a shot at the buzzer on 12/12/09 against Glenbard West. Toni passed Brian Wardle for the all-time school points record on her way to play for Stanford.

Enter Tom McKenna:

2011 brought in our 4th consecutive season with a new person at the helm, as Tom McKenna arrived to put his stamp on the program. McKenna brings a hall of fame career to the sidelines, along with over 400 wins in a 23-season career at St. Ignatius.

Tom's teams have shown improvement in at least four seasons, including 20+ win seasons in 2015 and again in 2017. He won his 500th career game on January 21, 2017 against conference rival OPRF.

Our recent Red Devil teams have shown great improvement and growth on our quest to return to be a girls basketball powerhouse. I'm proud of you all.

It's truly a great time to be a Red Devil!

Elle Schaefer is at 918 PRO when her Fenwick stats are combined with her HC totals.

The Record Book:
DEVIL DEX
4x [(PRO – Misses) / Quarters]

“Teams will struggle to win if every player only focuses on his own scoring. Consequently, coaches are often imploring their players to focus on something besides their own shots.”

- Stumbling on Wins (Berri and Schmidt; 2011)

Stat-Man Says:
DevilDex is sort of the “Stat-Man MVP” number because it combines total production per quarter of playing time but also deducts for missed shots. DevilDex tells total player contribution.

Devils in AP Physics C

In addition to being the Stat-Man, I also teach AP Physics-1 and AP Physics-C (the tricky calculus version) at Hinsdale Central. I'd like to recognize my AP Physics-C scholars who have also played in the basketball program at the varsity level.

1998	Laura Barnard	Harvard College
2008	Lizzy Awick	University of Illinois
2010	Toni Kokenis	Stanford University
2011	Avery Anderson	Kenyon (OH) College
